ConfIDent

An Open Platform for FAIR Conference Metadata

Dr Stephanie Hagemann-Wilholt,
Hannover, October 22nd 2019
21st International Conference on Grey Literature

Agenda

1. Why Should I Attend Conferences?
2. Problems with Data on Conferences
3. Service Platforms for Conferences
4. Fake Science
5. Aims of ConfIDent
6. How is This Supposed to Work?

Why Should I Attend Conferences?

- Informal and fast feedback from peers
 - independent from long publications lifecycles
- Opportunity to publish papers
- Broad and quick overview about new research topics and areas
- Networking

Problems with Data on Conferences

1. Availability of scholarly event data:

- Scattered
- No long-term availability
- No acknowledgement of conference activities as research output

2. Quality of scholarly event data:

- Insufficient
- Again: no long-term availability
- Costly task to track conference activities
- Expert knowledge required for evaluating quality

Service Platforms for Conferences

philevents Conferences, CFPs, and seminars in philosophy

OPEN SCIENCE RESEARCH EXCELLENCE

The screenshot displays the Waset website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for 'My Account', 'Conferences', 'Committees', 'Publications', and 'Support'. Below this is a search bar and a filter menu. The main content area is a grid of 15 conference listings for 2019, arranged in 5 rows and 3 columns. Each listing includes the conference name, dates, location, and a submission deadline. The conferences listed are: Prague 2019, Stockholm 2019, Paris 2019, Toronto 2019, Helsinki 2019, Berlin 2019, Rome 2019, Istanbul 2019, Zurich 2019, Montreal 2019, Amsterdam 2019, Vancouver 2019, New York 2019, Venice 2019, Barcelona 2019, Istanbul 2019, Bangkok 2019, and London 2019. Each listing features a small image representing the location.

Aims of ConfIDent

How is This Supposed to Work?

User-centred approach

- Start with pilot communities
- Considering subject-specific characteristics of conferences
- Iterative process of development

Metadata

- Defining framework for high quality of metadata and content
- Interoperability with existing services and platforms
- PID registration for standardization & quality management

How is This Supposed to Work?

Extensional use of data

- Increase visibility of conference activities as academic performance
- Increase documentation of conference activities → CRIS

Technical base

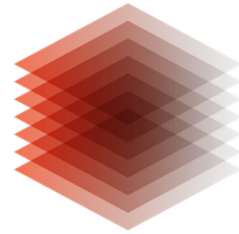

- Semantic Media Wiki based approach fostering openness and extensibility
- Domain specific ontology
- Collaborative data curation → needs mature roles & rights management
